PROGRAM PURPOSE

The Master of Arts in Indigenous Language and Culture Education is designed for indigenous language and culture-based education practitioners such as teachers, administrators, culture resource specialists, etc. The setting at Ka Haka ‘Ula O Ke‘elikōlani College with its Kahuawaiola Indigenous Teacher Education Program, the Hale Kuamo‘o center, consortium with the ‘Aha Pūnana Leo, and P-12 laboratory schools, baccalaureate, and graduate Hawaiian medium education programs provides unique resources for understanding indigenous language and culture education.

The M.A. program in Indigenous Language and Culture Education currently offers only a Plan B practicing track, which requires students to be fluent in Hawaiian language and to simultaneously pursue the Kahuawaiola Indigenous Teacher Education Certificate. Hawaiian language use in the majority of Practicing Track courses provides students with the tools to deliver indigenous language and culture education at a high level. In the future, when the faculty is larger, the college intends to open a monitoring indigenous education track that will be open to students focusing on other indigenous languages.

Students accepted into the M.A. program must have met requirements for study and fluency in the Hawaiian language and culture, which will be their point of reference throughout the program.

APPLICATION PROCESS

The priority application deadline is February 1 for admission to the following Fall semester. After February 1, applications will only be accepted on a space-available basis.

The UH Hilo Admissions Office receives applications and supporting documents and maintains the applications through final notification. If you do not hear from us within 30 days of submission of your application, please contact the Admissions Office at (808) 974-7414.

Applications that meet initial requirements will be forwarded to the College of Hawaiian Language Admissions committee for a comprehensive review and consideration for admission into the program. Admissions decisions made by the committee will be returned to the Admissions Office which sends the final notification to the applicant.

Admission Status

The applicant’s admission status is valid only for the semester to which the applicant is accepted. Applications for students who do not register or who withdraw from the University are voided but retained for a period of one (1) year. Students may reapply for admission to the next cohort by submitting a new graduate application along with the application fee.
